

FORENSIC PATHOLOGIST

$290,000 - $325,000 per year

About Us:

At Forensic Pathology Associates (FPA), a division of HNL Lab Medicine, we're seeking a passionate and driven Forensic Pathologist to join our team. Accredited by the National Association of Medical Examiners (NAME) since 2015, FPA has been a leading forensic pathology practice in Eastern Pennsylvania for over 30 years, providing comprehensive autopsy and consultative services. We collaborate closely with county coroners, hospital systems, investigative agencies, and attorney's offices to ensure precise and thorough analyses.

Why Join Us?

Collaborative Environment: Join a seasoned team of board-certified Forensic Pathologists and Forensic Neuropathologist, supported by highly skilled forensic pathology assistants and administrative staff.

Cutting-Edge Facilities: Be part of a team connected to a full-service clinical laboratory with access to an extensive testing menu and departmental specialists including Anatomic and Clinical Pathology, Microbiology, Toxicology, and Genetics.

Impactful Responsibilities: Conduct autopsy examinations, determine cause of death, and provide expert testimony in criminal and civil court trials.

Educational Opportunities: Engage in teaching and mentorship opportunities for medical residents, pathology assistants, and forensic personnel. Potential to be appointed within the Pathology Department at the University of South Florida - Morsani College of Medicine (USF-MCM) provides added academic prospects.

Requirements:

- MD, DO, or MBBS degree with American Board of Pathology certification in AP, AP/CP or AP/NP.
- Board certification within 1 year of employment in Forensic Pathology.
- Licensed to practice medicine in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by the date of employment.
- Strong communication skills, both written and verbal, and the ability to thrive in a fast-paced, collaborative environment.

Prime Location:

Situated in the heart of the Lehigh Valley, our location offers a perfect blend of small-town charm and urban amenities. With easy access to Philadelphia and New York City, you'll enjoy affordable suburban living, excellent schools, numerous colleges and universities, and a rich cultural scene.

Benefits:

Competitive Compensation: Starting salary ranging from $290,000 - $325,000 per year, with annual increases and short-term incentive bonus opportunities. Additional compensation for individuals with pediatric, neuropathology and/or cardiovascular pathology fellowship training.

Comprehensive Benefits: Health, dental, vision, life insurance, matching 401(k), and generous PTO.

Professional Development: Nine CME days with funding of $4,500 per year for continued education.

What You'll Do:

Conduct 15-25 autopsies monthly, ensuring adherence to NAME standards, with a maximum of three autopsies per day.

Participate in on-call rotations amongst the Forensic Pathologists, roughly 10 times per year.

Join Our Team:

If you're ready to make a significant impact in forensic pathology, be part of a dynamic team, and thrive in a collaborative, innovative environment, we invite you to apply. Take the next step in your career with Forensic Pathology Associates and contribute to our legacy of excellence.

Discover the Lehigh Valley and the endless opportunities: Discover Lehigh Valley.

Submit your CV to:
Joshua Kubat, HNL Lab Medicine,
Director of Human Resources
P: 484-425-5522
E: Joshua.Kubat@hnl.com

www.hnl.com/careers