

UND DEPARTMENT OF PATHOLOGY IS HIRING A FORENSIC PATHOLOGIST

Your chance to establish and excel in an academic based, regional forensic service

The Department of Pathology at the University of North Dakota School of Medicine and Health Sciences (UND SMHS) is recruiting innovative, academically oriented, forensic pathologists in a unique regional forensic and autopsy practice. Our caseload is very manageable with approximately 400 autopsies shared among three pathologists. Excellent relationships exist between ND pathology groups, local government, and law enforcement communities. There is no general surgical pathology or hospital AP/CP associated with this position. The position is a unique opportunity to build a strong and innovative pathology practice dedicated to excellence in death investigation, forensic and autopsy, and specialty areas of pathology.

STRONG EDUCATIONAL VALUES AND OPPORTUNITIES

Join the team that forms the forensic pathology practice of the future!

There is strong comradery and congeniality within the office; we desire people who value a respectful and supportive workplace and help each other achieve personal greatness. We want to advance the practice of forensic pathology, incorporating electronic reporting, the use of paraprofessionals, and integration into public health and safety monitoring for the community with the development of electronic reporting and data collection. Contribute to the full range of teaching responsibilities of the Department of Pathology: Teach, advise and mentor a wide variety of students, including, but not limited to, medical, health science, MPH, graduate, and other students. Well-equipped department with in-house, expert histology, access to bioinformatics, imaging, and community / Indigenous health.

GREAT LIFESTYLE

Excellent, family-oriented community, very reasonable cost of living, activities abound.

Grand Forks offers a low cost of living, excellent schools, and a safe, welcoming environment—making it a great place to raise a family. The city features miles of walking and biking trails, numerous parks, and year-round recreational facilities including outdoor ice rinks, swimming pools, indoor hockey, a waterpark, and a community golf course. Residents enjoy access to state-of-the-art fitness centers operated by the city, university, and private organizations. The community is tolerant and inclusive, with a vibrant arts and culture scene supported by the university and local organizations. Opportunities for higher education, such as an MPH or other degrees, are available tuition-free. The town's compact size allows you to cross it in just 10 minutes, while spacious rural areas are only minutes away for those seeking more privacy. Grand Forks also benefits from its proximity to Winnipeg, Manitoba (2 hours north), and the Twin Cities of Minneapolis–St. Paul (4 hours southeast), both offering expanded cultural and entertainment options.

QUESTIONS?

Please call or email: Selly Strauch, M.D.

Selly.strauch@UND.edu 701.777.2561

See full details on the UND Careers website:

campus.UND.edu/human-resources/careers/

JOIN US AND SHAPE YOUR FUTURE

- $300,000+ commensurate with experience
- GREAT benefit package includes: single or family health care coverage (UND pays the full premium), life insurance, employee assistance program, retirement plans with generous employer contributions
- Optional benefits include supplemental life, dental, vision, flexible spending account, supplemental retirement plans.
- UND also offers an employee tuition waiver (free for you and 50% for family) and a variety of professional development opportunities.