DESCRIPTION:

The Oregon State Medical Examiner is seeking a full-time forensic pathologist in our facility in Clackamas, Oregon, a suburb of Portland.

Big city excitement and small-town charm make Portland, Oregon, known as "the City of Roses", one of the favorite destinations in the West. Portland is situated approximately 70 miles from the Pacific in a magnificent setting between the sparkling waters of the Columbia and Willamette Rivers. Portland's historic old town, galleries and museums, Saturday Market, and theatre companies will keep visitors busy for weeks! Its lush green parks are perfect for a picnic or an afternoon stroll. Also, Portland is just a short distance from Willamette valley wineries, skiing at Timberline Lodge and all of the excitement and beauty of Oregon's spectacular ocean beaches.

Portland's award-winning mass transit system is one of the most extensive and advanced in the U.S. The transit system includes buses, streetcars, historic trollies and the MAX, an urban light rail line which provides service to metro area locations, including the Portland suburbs.

Portland was built with walking in mind. The short blocks, combined with public art and old-fashioned statuary, fountains, bridges and parks offer opportunities for leisure and contemplation for the casual stroller. Walking tours of the downtown area focusing on the best of the city's art, architecture, urban parks and fountains are available. Portland also features a large number of green spaces. The city also features an extensive network of bicycle lanes and streets to support a green lifestyle. Portland has a large number of green spaces, one of the highest of any US City. Forest Park is Portland's largest city park and one of the largest in the United States. At over 5000 acres, it has over 70 miles of trails for all skill levels.

Our state is a popular relocation destination for Americans. Oregon features a diverse geography that includes forests, mountains, beaches, and deserts. There are ample opportunities to enjoy Oregon's natural beauty, many of which are within one to two hours of the Portland Metro area. Cities like Astoria, Florence, and Bend are great places to plan weekend getaways.

Oregon has grown its investment in its Medical Examiner's program over the last several budget cycles and additional growth is anticipated over the next few years with a sustained commitment to better staffing, better compensation, and state-of-the-art facilities. Currently, two facilities projects are underway. A new autopsy facility will be opening shortly in rural Southern Oregon while an additional facility in Eugene is being planned to serve the Central Willamette Valley.

Forensic pathologist compensation has risen into the top third nationally and will be reviewed and adjusted at regular intervals. Capital construction projects are moving forward: New lab and morgue facility construction is already underway at our Medford, Oregon location. Land has been purchased for a new, state-of-the-art facility in Eugene, Oregon, and planning is underway to replace the Portland area facility. Each of these three regional facilities offers access to a different pace and lifestyle, from the most urban to suburban, all with convenient access to the Cascade mountains, the coast, and abundant cultural, educational, and recreational opportunities. Our forensic pathologists will be able to explore all aspects of life in the beautiful Pacific Northwest.

We are a growing program. Interested employees will have the opportunity to participate in a variety of strategic planning projects, including the planning and development of future programs and facilities. The long-term vision for the Oregon State Medical Examiner's Office is a system that provides professional and compassionate death investigation services to all Oregonians.

The Medical Examiner Division is responsible for supervising 36 county offices in the investigation of unattended, unusual, and traumatic deaths. Personnel work closely with county medical examiners and medical legal death investigators. Autopsies are performed in three locations in the state. All medical legal autopsies in Northwestern, Eastern and Central Oregon are currently performed by pathologists in the Clackamas Office. The teaching program provides regular lectures on legal medicine and death investigation to many groups, including students from Oregon Health and Science University (OHSU) and Western University School of Osteopathic Medicine, law students, pathology residents, medical legal death investigators, police officers, and healthcare professionals.

Drug analysis is done on-site by toxicology section of the Oregon State Police Forensic Services Division. The Medical Examiner's office has an on-site Lodox scanner. The medical examiner division employs a full-time forensic anthropologist who also manages the human identification program. Odontology and neuropathology consultations are available. The medical examiner division shares a building with a full-service forensics lab which can provide consultation services on complex cases.
